

Prehistory very closely in the Museum "Stone Age House"

The new museum "Stone Age House", directly at the entrance to the Park, offers you a unique and fascinating round tour through all epochs of the Stone Age in Schleswig-Holstein. New results of research of surrounding landscapes and settlement history are presented in our Museum, original and many thousand years old finds, models, interactive stations and more information for all ages. Discover the first traces of humans in Schleswig-Holstein, admire wild game trophies from reindeer hunters of the ice age, see weapons that once belonged to the Stone Age people, get to know about the mysterious megalithic tombs and find the oldest traces of cultivated crops. Welcome to start your archaeological discovery trip for young and old right here!

The Museum „Stone Age House“ is open the whole year and the entrance fee is included into the Parks fee.

Archaeology and Nature...

Welcome to the Stone Age – The clocks are turned back in Albersdorf!

Here at the Stone Age Park Dithmarschen we revive our ancient past and make history an experience, tangible for young and old. History is not something that we learn only by reading books but much more so if we experience history with all our senses. Which is why we reconstructed an entire stone age village from real blueprints developed from the remains of archaeological digging sites. The stone age buildings are embedded on approx. 40 hectares of open-air exhibition area. It is an artificial landscape of the first farmers and stockbreeders from Northern Germany 5.000 years ago. Dip into the life of the Stone Age Village! Here, ancient animals, like traditional cattle, grazing on the vast fields and rare old grains are grown. Admire the longhouses built after archaeological blueprints and the impressive megalithic tombs in the woods. Do not miss out on unforgettable adventures on our unique Nature Playground. Stroll through the mystic Stone Age Woods and become an archaeologist in our new museum "Stone Age House".

Great idea for a unique and unforgettable birthday party!

The Stone Age Park is an official part of the Route of Megalithic Culture by the European Council. For more detailed information visit: www.megalithicroutes.eu
